

ALL LINES TIED UP
BY KELLY'S ALLIES.DES MOINES IS ON THE VERGE OF A RIOT.

Sympathizers With the Commonweal Army Block all the Railroads Running Into the Iowa Capital and the Militia Will Be Called Out at Once—Fighting is Imminent.

DES MOINES, April 30.—[Special].—A general tie-up of all the railroads running into Des Moines was started this morning by the sympathizers of General Kelly, and the governor is expected to call out the militia without delay. The situation is serious and bloodshed is almost certain to result. Trouble was anticipated from the army. The men marched twenty-seven miles without food and were held by the police five miles out of the city in a driving rainstorm all day, with no provisions or shelter. Some 500 of the industrialists marched through the city yesterday afternoon with an escort of police on each side. Gen. James B. Weaver rode in advance, and behind him came Gen. Kelly. As Des Moines has been the Mecca of the hopes of the army for the last week it was rather a discouraging reception. By supper time, however, the army had reached the old works east of the city, which will be their headquarters as long as they stay here.

The start from Van Meter was made Saturday in a heavy storm and when day dawned the column was still fifteen miles from its destination. The advance guard reached Walnut Creek, five miles west of Des Moines, before noon. The men struggled in during the afternoon, and by 3 o'clock 1,000 men gathered.

Mayor Hillis sent thirty policemen and Sheriff McGarragh as many deputies to meet the army and inform them that they would have to pass on through Des Moines to the deserted stove factory, where ample food and shelter were provided. This Kelly flatly refused to do, saying his men must be fed before they marched the additional six miles. The officers were "obdurate, and the hungry men stood shivering in the rain until 4:30 o'clock hoping for provisions. Gen. Weaver sent out forty loaves of bread, and that served as breakfast and dinner. Mayor Hillis answering that if the men would not go to where the food was they should have none. At last Kelly consented to move and the march cityward began.

Gen. Weaver drove to Walnut creek to meet the army. He addressed the crowd as "friends," and said as long as they committed no criminal act their progress would be irresistible. He stated that he was fully in sympathy with the move.

Now that the army is safely housed in the eastern part of the city, everyone is asking what shall be done with them. Kelly says that they will not march out of Des Moines, and the managers of every line running out of this city to Chicago say just as determinedly that the army shall not ride without paying fare.

Kelly's night march would have taxed the wits and tested the courage of a military commander. The elements warned him that he must give up his intention of marching into Des Moines like a conqueror early in the day, but he gave no heed. At 9 o'clock he gave the order to fall in and the tired soldiers put on their shoes again and took their places. Just then the wind in advance of a storm cloud swooped down with terrible ferocity, enveloping the men in a smothering fog of sand that would have brought a herd of Sahara camels to the ground. The men never flinched. They swallowed the sand, rubbed it out of their eyes, and stood firm. With the simoom almost drowning his voice, Gen. Kelly ordered the advance and inhospitable Van Meter was left behind. One mile and the rain descended and in five minutes the army was drenched. The darkness was impenetrable, and there was no way of discerning the road except by the fierce lightning flashes which served to blind the men more than to help them, and served to deepen the awful blackness of night which had fallen.

Then followed a march which will never be forgotten by those who took part, even the most hardened. It was an army of blind men, for they could not see an inch beyond their noses.

With his jaws set Kelly plodded along at the head of the pitiful procession. He was afoot. Had he gone astride his horse the men might have grumbled, but the horse had been left behind. Soon the wind abated, but the rain came down in sheets. Its weight seemed to bear down the men and Kelly realized that to proceed farther was useless, as he was making less than a mile an hour.

The ranks were broken and the men sought refuge behind tree trunks and beside fences. This was little better than nothing and even the protection of the trees was not enjoyed long because somebody passed the word that the tall trees invited death-dealing lightning. There was a general scamper for the open, where the men lay down in an inch of water. Their sufferings at this point cannot be estimated. There came a lull and again the column was formed and ordered on. There had been desertions by men who returned to the Van Meter camp, but Kelly paid no attention to them beyond sending an officer back to keep watch.

A member of the army said last night; "I can tell you that fully three-fourths of the members of the army are determined not to march a step further. I don't think they will attempt anything desperate, but I talked with at least 500 of them and they said they were ready to sit down here and stay here until a train is furnished."

This statement is in line with the position taken by Kelly and his officers and is undoubtedly the intention of the bulk of the army. The city authorities say that they will furnish teams to take the army as far as the east line of the county, but the provisions will not be furnished them for a protracted stay. A call has been issued for a mass meeting to be held at Trades Assembly hall to-night, and the outcome of this assemblage is anxiously awaited. Late last night a rumor was in circulation that negotiations are pending with the managers of the Chicago Great Western in Chicago to secure a train, but if this is true Superintendent Egan knows nothing of it.

Gov. Jackson said that he would take no action until requested to do so by the county authorities.

COXEY REACHES HIS GOAL AT LAST. The Commonweal Army Is Now in Camp at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Coxey's army is camped within five miles of the white house and the people of Washington are wondering why something startling has not occurred. The feeling of dread which prevailed a week ago has entirely disappeared. Thousands of persons surged through the white gates of Brightwood park in the afternoon. Most of the visitors came away laughing and told their friends that Coxey's band of peace was a stupendous fizzle.

The plans of procedure of the great entry next Tuesday have helped to crowd the unemployed into the background. Coxey says now that he will camp right down and remain until his bills are passed. Although the fear of Coxey's army has been entirely dissipated, the city authorities have concluded to provide against every possible contingency. This morning 200 special policemen, some in citizens' clothes, will be assigned to duty, twenty in each precinct and twenty at headquarters. Additional detectives have been stationed about the white house grounds, and it is reported that all of the clerks in the treasury department have been armed. With these precautions Chief of Police Moore says that there can be no possibility of injury to life or property.

When the commonweal army marched into Rockville last night it was greeted with three cheers by the Jones contingent, which had just completed its long march from Philadelphia. Several hundred persons were crowded around the gates of the fair grounds, when the army marched through. Browne expected that the "Great Unknown" would be present with his army and interpose an obstacle, but he was nowhere to be seen. The tents were pitched and the men began cooking supper after their own inimitable way. In the evening a heavy rainstorm came up and blew down all the tents and capsize the panorama wagon. The men were forced to sleep in wet horse stalls and when they crawled out at 5 o'clock in the morning they looked bedraggled and filthy. At a scanty breakfast of hard tack and coffee was served. All the way through the city of Rockville, where Coxey has many sympathizers, the column was lustily cheered. It was a beautiful sunny morning. There was a dewy freshness about the new grass on the roadside and the orchards along the pike were fragrant with blossoms. The rain had laid the dust and made the walking excellent.

Five miles out of Rockville the army was met by a party of several hundred bicyclers. Coxey made a little speech in which he said he knew all the wheelmen were sympathizers in the good-roads movement. At the District of Columbia line a great concourse of people was waiting to welcome the army. Among others were a score of cavalrymen and several mounted patrolmen, who swung into the line as an advance guard. There was little or no cheering. A United States senator lifted his hat gravely as Coxey drove by and the salute was returned by the general.

Just inside of the line a halt was called and the flags and banners, including "The Three Graces," were brought from the panorama wagon and distributed. Browne proposed three cheers "for the District of Columbia, the asylum for the oppressed of all nations, including the people of the United States," and the men responded with a will. Then the bugle sounded and the march was resumed. The street was a solid mass of men and women.

It was shortly after 1 o'clock when the army marched into Brightwood park. A man was stationed at once at the gate and a placard was posted up saying that while no admission was charged those who could afford it were expected to contribute. Every one contributed, for the reason that a big commonwealer stood at the gateway and prevented those who did not get out their money from entering. There were some gifts of $1 each, but most of them ranged from 10 to 25 cents.

In an interview Coxey said he would appeal to the highest court of the land if the police refused his army the right to march up to the capitol and present their petition. The contributions of the day are said to have reached $10.

The managers of the house are very much in earnest in their determination not to permit any resolutions bearing

A STORM OF DEATH
AT KANSAS CITY.NINETEEN PEOPLE KILLED AND MANY OTHERS WILL DIE.

School Children Crushed at Their Desks by Falling Walls—Big Iron Bridge Goes Down—Wind and Hail Was Followed by a Deluge of Rain.

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—[Special].—A violent wind storm with clouds of hail, and followed by a tremendous burst of rain, fell suddenly at noon to-day.

A number of buildings were demolished, and the cloud burst a span of the iron bridge.

So far as can be learned, nineteen persons were killed in the state and twenty injured; many so badly they will die.

Among the killed are several little school children who were caught by a falling wall. They were horribly mangled by the heavy timbers and broken iron work as it crushed down on them as they sat terrified at their desks.

COMPROMISE TARIFF LIKELY. Success of the Measure Said to Depend on Such Action.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The course which the tariff debate may take in the senate this week will depend entirely upon developments from day to day. The agreement for the limitation of debate on the tariff to certain hours each day has expired and the republicans have shown no disposition to renew it. The democrats have been unsuccessful in advancing the hour for meeting from 12 to 11 o'clock, but they get the bill up each day after the disposal of the routine morning business by an yea and nay vote and are making progress by elbowing themselves along. They have not yet decided whether they will attempt to extend the debate until a later hour each day than has yet been observed. Their program in this respect will depend upon the progress that may be made with the compromise bill now in hand. The feeling is general on the democratic side that if they get a bill which commands the support of the entire democratic side of the chamber the republican antagonism will weaken, that the opposition will be content to make an earnest protest, but without any effort to prolong the final vote beyond the time necessary to discuss the various schedules in a businesslike manner, and that night sessions may not be resorted to.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS IN TROUBLE.

Obstructive Policy of the Republicans Not Relished by the Majority.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The house will continue work on the appropriation bills this week. The republicans developed an obstructive policy during the consideration of the diplomatic and consular bill, which was completed last Thursday, consuming an entire week by means of unimportant amendments to unimportant items. The democrats fear this policy is to be continued in furtherance of a well settled program to delay the passage of the regular appropriation bills. Should it be developed during the coming week that such is the fact a special order may be necessary to expedite matters. After the completion of the army bill, the consideration of which was begun Saturday, it is probable Mr. Dockery will be allowed to bring forward his bill to reorganize the system of accounting in the treasury department, which is designed to reduce expenditures in the department $180,000. As soon as it is out of the way the river and harbor bill will be called up. In case the republicans persist in an obstructive program an attempt will be made to pass it a week from to-day under suspension of the rules.

CARLISLE TALKS OF THE TARIFF.

Concessions are Being Made to Secure Party Harmony.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle has authorized a statement in reply to an inquiry as to whether it were true that he had taken part in the conferences which it has been said were being held for the purpose of agreeing upon certain amendments to the pending tariff bill. He said it is true that an effort is being made to agree upon such changes in the pending bill as will secure for it the united and active support of all the democrats in the senate. The indications now are that this support can and will be secured without making radical changes in the rates of duty or material alterations in the form or structure of the tariff schedules as they were passed by the house of representatives. In fact, he regards most of the changes now under consideration as quite unimportant, while the remainder are not of such a character as substantially to affect the merits of the bill as a measure for the reformation of the worst features of existing legislation upon this subject.

Lightning Plays Havoc in Minnesota.

FAIRFAX, Minn., April 30.—John T. Maxwell's large barn, four miles south of this place, was struck by lightning yesterday and completely destroyed by fire, two horses and five head of cattle perishing. Mr. Maxwell, while trying to save his stock, was kicked in the spine.

GOV. PECK TO HEAD
THE STATE TICKET.HEAD "ROSTER ROOSTER" WILL TRY IT AGAIN.

Most of the Other State Officers Will Also Be Renominated—"Ye Have Been Fed, Now Verily Shall Ye Be Sacrificed" Is the Democratic Sundry Now.

MILWAUKEE, April 30.—[Special].—George W. Peck may be the democratic nominee for governor. Few democrats are after the nomination this fall. Peck has been told that a good many of the party feel as though he ought to make the run again—that the party has twice elected him—and that he is now wanted for the race. The governor will consent. Most of the old ticket will be named.

HIG COAL STRIKE NEARLY ENDED.

Operators and Miners Confer to That End Probably Successfully.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 30.—The officials of the United Mine Workers' union, who are at the head of the strike in this district, are authority for the statement that steps will be taken to-day for a settlement of the strike. Through W. P. Rend they are trying to reach the Pittsburg operators, who hold the key to the situation. He is in favor of settling the strike.

Mass meetings were held at different points yesterday to keep the miners from weakening. Some of the men employed by the Hostetter Coke company at Whitney and Lippencott mines were insulted at the presence of deputies and quit work last night.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 30.—President John McBride of the United Mine workers says letters had been received from operators suggesting such a conference, but so far as the mine workers' officials were informed no concerted action of operators had been taken. He said the miners were willing at any time to meet with the operators, but would not make the first step. Mr. McBride has confidence that the object of the strike will be realized.

SITUATION IN INDIANA.

Coal Mine Operators Must Await Official Action in Other States.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 30.—The miners' strike situation in Indiana is not the same as in Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. It is admitted by the operators that they have no chance to settle with their men until the deal is made in the other three states. They are powerless since the miners rejected the offer to go to work for 80 cents a ton until such time as a new wage scale was promulgated by the National association. At the same time they believed the Indiana strike can be settled with the least trouble when the time comes. The strike has already resulted in consolidating the miners' union in Indiana as never before. When the strike was ordered the unorganized miners were in the majority five to one. Of the 5,000 now on strike in Indiana less than 3,000 were in the union at the start. The membership has been doubled within the week.

Peoria Miners Will Fight to End.

PEORIA, Ill., April 30.—A meeting of the Peoria District miners was held at Bartonville Saturday. They were addressed by State President Crawford, who urged them to remain out until the national fight is decided. When the miners of this district first went out it was for only a week, but at Saturday's meeting they resolved to stay out until the big fight is over.

Await the President's Bidding.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 30.—Notices are posted everywhere about here calling on the miners to quit work May 1 in loyalty to the national organization. The miners refuse to say whether they will comply, but they all agree that if the national president comes here they will obey.

Muddy Valley Miners to Quit Work.

DUQUOIN, Ill., April 30.—About 300 miners with a brass band went to Muddy Valley and held a meeting yesterday. They were joined by miners from Desoto and Murphysboro. A vote to quit work to-day was carried by the Muddy Valley miners.

GREAT NORTHERN TO RESUME.

Situation in St. Paul Looks More Like a Settlement Than Ever.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30.—Business will be resumed on the Great Northern to-day. In some respects the strike situation is unchanged, although there have been some interesting developments. The brotherhood engineers on the Great Northern met last night to discuss the situation and stand where they have all along. They will resume work at once, and as the other brotherhoods are with them the company feels assured of its ability to carry on business, ample protection being assured by the government. A large meeting of Great Northern strikers was held at Labor hall in the afternoon. The proposition of arbitration formulated by the Commercial clubs of St. Paul and Minneapolis was rejected. President Debs of the American Railway union favored the plan, but when the meeting had decided against it he fell in with the spirit of the occasion.

In obedience to orders from the war department four companies of the First battalion, Third regiment of infantry, left Fort Snelling for Devil's Lake, N. D., to assist Marshal Cronan in making arrests. At last accounts the troops had reached Breckinridge, Minn. Much excitement was manifested among the strikers at sight of the bluecoats.

TO BRING ACTION IN WASHINGTON.

Scheme of Railroad Men to Embarrass the Great Northern Officials.

FARGO, N. D., April 30.—The local members of Railway union have a plan which they think will cause the Great Northern road considerable expense, and may result in the company having to pay the salaries and expenses of deputy marshals. The men claim to have positive evidence that the company has sent out trains having neither mail aboard, though mail cars were attached to either end of trains, and they were manned by United States deputy marshals. In one particular case they allege the Great Northern fraudulently secured the aid of deputy marshals to enable them to run a train off under the guise of desiring the protection of the United States mail. Prominent men have taken the matter in hand and will urge Congressman Johnson to introduce in congress a resolution protesting against the payment of all expenses accruing from the employment of deputies to operate Great Northern trains.

Strike Situation at St. Cloud.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., April 30.—A train consisting of five coaches with the mail and baggage arrived here at 11:20 yesterday, bearing 300 United States regulars. Work will without doubt be resumed here in the yard to-day. It is said the engineers and firemen are satisfied and will support the company's interests. Mr. Hill's compromise seems to have put a new face on the situation and everything now points to a general resumption of business on this division. The conductors are ready to respond to calls.

Miners Return From Toluca.

MINONK, Ill., April 30.—Minonk miners returned from Toluca late Friday night via Streator and LaSalle. None of them engaged in the riot there so far as can be learned. The accidental death of the Polish miner while returning has had a sobering effect on those who went from here, where he resided. No further trouble is expected here, but the men have not decided to resume work.

Ashland Ore Miners Getting Ugly.

ASHLAND, Wis., April 30.—Striking ore handlers surrounded the police yesterday and rescued two of their number who had been arrested and were being taken to jail. The strikers are beginning to persecute the wives and families of the men who are working under protection. The men are becoming ugly and trouble seems certain.

GLAD THE FIGHT IS BEGUN.

Republicans Believe the Illinois Apportionment Will Be Set Aside.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 30.—There is general gratification among republicans over the fact that an opportunity has finally been found to test in the courts the re-apportionment of the senatorial districts enacted by the last legislature and that the necessary legal proceedings have been instituted. These proceedings have been freely discussed here and have created a great deal of interest because it is the first time such action has been brought in an Illinois court. Democratic leaders profess indifference as to the outcome of the suit. They say the bill is just and the division fair. They declare no one could expect a better districting, taking the law and its phases into consideration, and scout the idea of the court rendering a decision against them.

New Orleans Hotel Burns.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 30.—Five lives are reported lost in the burning of the St. Charles hotel Saturday night. One man—John Riley, a baker—leaped from the fourth story and was instantly killed. Three others and a woman were seen to jump from the iron staircase leading from the rear of the building and were lost to view in the court, which was a solid mass of flames. The fatalities will not be known definitely until the ruins are searched. The total loss is estimated at $550,000.

Spain Prepares for Pest.

NEW TRIAL NOT GRANTED.

Judge Bradley Overrules Breckinridge's Motion—Appeal Taken.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Judge Bradley Saturday overruled the motion of counsel for Representative W. C. P. Breckinridge for a new trial of the celebrated Breckinridge-Pollard breach of promise suit. Bond was fixed at $100 for an appeal which Breckinridge's counsel gave notice would be taken to the Court of Appeals.

Custer's Slayers to Return.

Kennedy.

Papal Encyclical Coming.

ROME, April 30.—The pope has written an important encyclical letter on a topic of universal interest which in part concerns the United States.

The Egyptians, 2,000 years before Christ, had hoes made of bone, with wooden handles.

The spade used by the Roman peasant during the empire was a wooden instrument tipped with iron.

MISS EATON WEDS A PROPERTY BOY.

PRETTY YOUNG ACTRESS
FOOLS HER MANAGER.

That Was Why She Didn't Appear In This City—Manager Youngs Statement—Quite a Sensational Case—It Will be of Great Interest to Theatrical People.

"It takes scandal to make an actress succeed."

This is pretty Mabel Eaton's theory. This is why Miss Eaton didn't play in La Belle Russe when the Griffith company appeared in Janesville.

A clandestine marriage had caused her to sever her relations with the company. The story got out when the company reached Racine.

Miss Eaton started out this season to play the leading part in La Belle Russe, Charles L. Young being manager. Miss Eaton's home is in Omaha, where her parents reside. She is an actress fairly known on the American stage and was formerly a member of one of Augustine Daly's companies.

When a telegram from Omaha announced the wedding, Charles L. Young, the manager of the company, was seen by a reporter and was shown the dispatch, but was loth to say much about the affair.

He said that Miss Eaton had severed her connection with the company, as had also the property man, E. M. Robinson, who it is alleged she had married. They are both located at the present time at Chicago. Mr. Young was asked to give his version of the affair, which he reluctantly did.

Young Hints at Revenge.

"Regarding Mable Eaton's alleged marriage to her property boy, I can only say that I have forwarded to Harrison Gray Fiske, editor of the New York Dramatic Mirror, the original letter from Mr. E. L. Eaton, her father, to my agent, William Gammon, stating that she, Mabel Eaton, was married to E. M. Robinson, either while in New York or before that time or during Mabel Eaton's tour. Said letter states that all mail should be addressed for Mabel Eaton, as Mrs. E. M. Robinson, 168 Ashland Boulevard, Chicago.

"Another letter which I have forwarded Mr. Smith from Mabel Eaton herself to William Gammon states that she shall be addressed as Mabel Eaton, but the address is given as stated in Mr. E. L. Eaton's letter, 168 Ashland Boulevard, Chicago.

"Miss Eaton has often stated that she needed scandal to succeed as a star, and this may be her way of getting it.

"If this is the case I will hold back the rest of the information that I am prepared to give concerning she and Robinson until she is satisfied that it does not pay to go into my private life to cancel a contract that she never intended to keep. I would rather not say anything concerning the affair in detail unless compelled to, for no matter how near right the man making the statement may be, the public is always in sympathy with the woman."

BARLEY DROPPING IN PRICE.

Malting Season Is Nearly Over—Receipts of Grain Light

Receipts of grain were again light during the past week, and the market ruled quiet with slight decline on some kinds. Wheat is quotable at 50 to 55 cents with only an occasional load offered. Barley is in good demand at 47 to 50 cents, a decline of 1 to 2 cents on last quotations. The malting season is nearly over consequently the tendency is to lower prices. Oats are off 1 cent with sales at 30 to 31 cents. Hogs are $4.35 to $4.65 per hundred.

THEIR WEDDING WAS A SURPRISE.

Alfred Slater and Miss Alice Knight Made Man and Wife.

Not even the bride's parents knew of the wedding of Miss Alice Knight to Alfred Slater this morning until the ceremony was over. Then good wishes and blessings were extended. The marriage took place this morning at 9 o'clock at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge, of the Baptist church. The groom was formerly a resident of this city, being in the employ of the Wisconsin telephone company, and is now manager of the exchange at Neenah-Menasha. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Knight. The wedding was a very quiet affair. Mr. and Mrs. Slater left on the early morning train for their home in Neenah.

BOOKKEEPER DIED OF APOPLEXY

Roswell J. Porter Died Very Unexpectedly at Spring Brook Sunday Morning

Roswell J. Porter was found dead in his bed Sunday at 2 o'clock. Mr. Porter retired Saturday evening, stating that he did not feel well. Sunday morning at 9 o'clock he called for a drink of water, which was furnished him and he again laid down in bed. His attendant thought no more about it and laid down to rest in an adjoining room. At 2 o'clock Porter was found dead. Dr. Palmer made an examination of the body and found that he died of apoplexy.

Mr. Porter came to Janesville some months ago from Racine, and was employed as bookkeeper by John Jensen in his foundry at Spring Brook, and boarded on the old Burr Robbins' place. Mr. Porter was an extraordinarily heavy man, his weight being about three hundred pounds. He was deformed, his lower limbs being rendered almost useless. He was unmarried, but has relatives living in Racine to which place the remains were taken on the noon train.

PARK STREET MADE BETTER.

Alderman Winslow Doing Good Work in That Part of the Ward.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Alderman Winslow, with his accustomed push and energy is doing a good deed to the residents of Park street, Third ward. He is using intelligent judgment in the improvement of the street, by undoing what cost many dollars last year to do. This street has been shamefully neglected for many years; the writer of this has paid out hundreds of dollars out of his own pocket for work which ought to have been done by any upright, honest street commissioner. But it was always said Park street was a back street. The road here was put up in a dangerous ridge not wide enough for two teams to pass. Alderman Winslow has earned the thanks of all the residents by scraping down this dangerous ridge and putting the street in question in fair shape even now. When he has done with this street, I venture, all the property owners upon the street will be quite satisfied with the work done and all will thank him.

STROWGER PHONES WORK WELL.

Pair of Instruments Get a Trial at the C. & N. W. Depot.

The Strowger Automatic telephone is now in Janesville, and is working very satisfactorily. The Chicago & Northwestern railway company have a line running from the train dispatcher's office in the freight depot to the road house, an automatic instrument being attached at each place. Yesterday the phone was tested by a number of citizens, and it appeared to transmit sound very satisfactorily. Alderman Ed. Smith, who has charge of the Western Union lines in this city, and who put these instruments up, says the Northwestern company propose giving it a thorough test, and if it meets the demands will adopt it for general use. Alderman Smith intends going to Chicago to make further investigations of the new instruments, and ascertain if possible, at what terms these instruments can be purchased by private parties.

OTHER CITIES HAVE BEEN AHEAD FOR YEARS.

The Building of the Y. M. C. A. Home Is a Step that Should Have Been Taken a Long Time Ago For the Benefit of Bower City Young Men.

EDITOR GAZETTE: One of the handsomest structures in Marinette is the building of the Young Men's Christian Association. The building is 60 by 120 feet in size. It has a granite front, the other walls being of brick. All the necessary equipments for the physical, social, intellectual and moral development of young men are to be found there. The citizens of Marinette are proud of this beautiful structure from the fact that so many young men show their appreciation by their daily visits to the building. It is valued at $19,900, the population of the city being 13,000.

South Kaukauna, Wis., occupies a building valued at $12,000, the population of the city being 6,000.

Fort Howard owns and occupies a building valued at $5,500, the city's population being only 4,700.

At Baraboo, population 5,000, a building was erected worth $11,000; also at Hurley, population 3,000, there has been secured a commodious building dedicated to the Young Men's Christian association.

At Wausau, Wis., a place of ten thousand population where no Association work had ever been done the citizens have erected, completely equipped, and thrown open to the public a building two stories and basement in front, with gymnasium in the rear. The building is heated with steam and lighted by gas and electricity. It is finely located and the most popular resort in the city already. No debt rests upon the property.

Janesville with her hundreds of young men roaming the streets day and night, has now appeared on the scene, with one of the most complete Y. M. C. A. building in the state. The appeal has gone out from time to time for every individual citizen to have a part in the erection of this building which will stand as a monument of usefulness. The building when thrown open to the public will be a home for every man, rich or poor, of whatever nationality. Homes will be benefited, the entire business community will be stimulated and helped daily. Strangers will be welcomed and take knowledge from this expression of our fellow citizens that we are awake to the best interests of our city. The canvass for the amount necessary to complete the building throughout will be entered upon at once. There being no individual interest at stake all should feel a heart interest that calls forth a liberal response to the full extent of your ability. AN INTERESTED SUBSCRIBER.

CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT DOGS

Eskimos Find the Faithful Animal a Necessity to Their Miserable Existence.

"Without dogs the larger portion of the great Eskimo family peopling the barren northeast coast of America would find it impossible to exist in its chosen home." So writes E. W. Nelson, in his "Mammals of Northern Alaska." They are used in the winter for hunting, sledge-drawing and the like, but in summer are mostly left to shift for themselves. They receive much hard usage, as well as do much hard work, but are described, nevertheless, as a rollicking set, full of play, fond of human society and quarrelsome as schoolboys. Mr. Nelson credits them with a vein of humor and declares that their varying characteristics can be read in their faces. They are worth from $2 to $15 apiece, according to age, size and intelligence. For sledge drawing they are harnessed in teams of either seven or nine—three or four pairs and a leader. The load is from 350 to 700 pounds and the course mainly through unbroken snow or over rough ice. With a team of seven dogs and a load of more than 300 pounds Mr. Nelson made a journey of more than 1,200 miles in about two months. The last sixty miles were made over a bad road in a continuous pull of twenty-one hours. They are much affected by the moon. During full moon half the night is spent by them in howling in chorus. "During the entire winter at St. Michael's," says Mr. Nelson, "we were invariably given a chorus every moonlight night, and the dogs of two neighboring villages joined in the serenade. He speaks of its 'wild, weird harmony,' and seems to have found it agreeable rather than otherwise. The influence of the moon is also very apparent when the dogs are traveling. They brighten up as the moon rises, and pricking up their ears start off as if they had forgotten their fatigue. The fur traders take advantage of this fact, and sometimes lie over during the day and travel at night. The dogs endure an astonishing degree of cold. Mr. Nelson saw a female with two newly-born puppies lying upon the snow near a hut, with no signs of shelter, when the thermometer ranged from thirty to thirty-five degrees below zero.

The Whale Fishery.

The whale fishery was at one time an enormous industry in the United States. It reached its height in 1854, when 602 ships and barks, twenty-eight brigs and thirty-eight schooners, with a total tonnage of 208,399, were engaged in it. By 1876 the fleet had been cut down to 169 vessels, and it is doubtful if fifty are now at sea. The introduction of kerosene and the increasing scarcity of whales seem to be the causes of this decline. Some remarkable voyages were made in the old days. The Pioneer, of New London, sailed in June, 1864, for Davis strait and Hudson's bay, returning in September, 1865, with 1,391 barrels of oil and 22,650 pounds of bone, valued at $150,000. In 1847 the Envoy, of New Bedford, was sold to be broken up, but her purchaser refitted her and she made a voyage worth $132,450. On the other hand a vessel made a five years' voyage and on her return the captain's lay was only $85. But, as the Nantucket captain, whose vessel returned from a three years' voyage as clean as she went out, remarked: "She ain't got a bar'l o' ile, but she's had a mighty fine sail."

A Bad Sample.

A member of the London Savage club relates an anecdote of dyspeptic Artemus Ward, who, with his friend and fellow-sufferer, Howard Paul, was traversing Oxford street, London, one day, both as miserable as indigestion could render them. Ward, with a joyful cry, called Paul's attention to a sign in a baker's shop which read: "Pure Nourishing Hygienic Bread." The pair entered with the intention of ordering a few loaves sent to their respective residences. When the man who sat behind the counter uncoiled and rose, he was one of those long, lean, lanky specimens of humanity, "middle-faced," with thin hair, hollow cheeks and a treble voice. "Your bread," said Ward, "is it healthful?" "Nothing finer in the world," said the man. "Nourishing, fattening?" pursued Artemus, with his eye on the signs which hung about. "Quite so," responded the baker; "I never touch any other kind." "Oh, you partake of it yourself?" said the humorist, tenderly; "well, in that case, I guess we don't want any."

THE TURRET'S SECRET.

Strange Find in a Walled Room of a Cathedral.

It was not till 1826 the litter of ages was removed from a certain English cathedral. Shortly after the place had been put to rights, a body of local antiquaries were minded to open a certain turret that looks out on St. Andrew's bay. They went to it one day, accordingly, and pulled down certain stones in the wall, and when there was room to admit the body of a man, one of the party squeezed in, his head and shoulders, and all of him, but his feet. Suddenly these became quite rigid, and his friends, pulling him out, found that he had fainted. While he was being attended to a second man peered into the black hole in like manner, and he, too, was pulled out in a very ill way.

Finally, a professor of the United college forced his entire person into the cavity, and did not faint; but presently reappeared, with the corpse of a woman in his arms, from which the life seemed to have gone but that hour. The turret was now fully explored; and, sitting round in a circle, were found twelve bodies decked as at a feast, and all of them untouched of decay. The professor on the instant sent off to the lord advocate, asking what course he should take. The answer came to close it up immediately if he would avoid prosecution. And this was done, and the matter hushed up.

But within the last few years two of those present at that strange disinterment were surviving, and they told certain of the modern excavators their story, which, indeed, there was documentary evidence to support. So once again, and at night this time, the turret was secretly opened up. Two things were now established. The first was the truth of what the search party had alleged of its discovery so many years before; and the second was the cause of what they had seen. For there is a certain soil or a certain atmosphere which preserves dead bodies from decay. It exists at Milan and it is now known to exist in England. And at a certain point from St. Regulus tower all the dead that sleep beneath its shadow are lying now as they lay on their deathbeds.

A LOOKING GLASS.

Saves a Man From Death at a Maniac's Hands.

"Many persons who are superstitious regard the breaking of a looking glass as an omen of bad luck," said a traveler, recently, "but I had an experience once where I think that the breaking of a looking glass was the means of saving my life. I was a keeper in the state insane asylum at the time. One evening about 11 o'clock I was sitting in my room reading, when I heard the door suddenly open, and on turning around was startled to see one of the patients, a man whose mania often took a most violent form, standing in the doorway. He had always been kept under lock and key, and how he managed to get out is a mystery to me to this day.

"I tried to appear as cool as possible, and asked him what he wanted. 'I have come to kill you,' he replied, at the same time taking a pistol from his pocket, which he had gained possession of in some unaccountable manner. As he advanced toward me, when all at once his eyes fell upon his own image in a large mirror that hung on the wall. His whole demeanor changed in an instant, and, seeming to forget all about me, he crept to what he supposed to be another man. Suddenly with an awful yell, he raised the pistol and fired point-blank at his image in the glass. The mirror was broken into a thousand pieces. His back was turned toward me, and in an instant I sprang upon him, and held him until help arrived, when we locked him up securely. I have always thought that glass was the means of saving my life."

Terry's Way Out of a Difficulty.

A little published story illustrating the ready tact of Miss Ellen Terry attributes to her a scheme which proved successful. She had promised to introduce a man to Mr. Irving, but had forgotten his name. On the pretext, as the story goes, that she and Mr. Irving had had a little dispute about the way the man's name was spelled, making a bet about it, she got him to write it on a slip of paper. Of course that saved her. If Miss Terry did this she was more fortunate than another clever woman about whom a similar story is told. She, too, when she had forgotten a name, said that she wished to settle a dispute about the spelling of the name by having it written out for her. The man then gravely scribbled his name. It was a name that is not spelled in more than a dozen different ways. It was Jones!

Never Toadied to His Sovereign.

When Mr. Gladstone dined with Queen Victoria for the last time as prime minister he was in the best of spirits. He sparkled with wit and badinage, told new stories and compared notes with the queen on bygone events, not hesitating to contradict her if wrong. The venerable queen has said several times that there were two men who flatly contradicted her and never toadied. One was Mr. Gladstone, the other her Scotch servant, John Brown.

Limits of Ivory.

It is difficult to obtain from an elephant's tusk a perfect slab of ivory more than six inches in diameter, as the upper end of the tusk, which is the thickest, is hollow, and the material is coarser than that in the solid part of the tusk. Every part of the tusk is put to use. Even the chips and sawdust are converted into ivory-black by burning.

SHOULDER ON THE SLANT.

The Newest Puffs Are Innocent of Gathers at the Top.

It is evident that sloping shoulders are to be the fashion for some time to come. Sleeves began to come down from their lofty position over a year ago, and this season marks another stage in their descent. The newest puffs are cut in circular form, so that while they are full around the elbow they are quite innocent of gathers at the top. A style of sleeve is now shown in which the upper part is laid in flat tucks and is sufficiently elongated to extend completely over the shoulder and up to the collar. This gives the slanting effect with a vengeance, and if it were not a fashionable novelty it would be considered ugly, but no doubt we shall soon become used to it. It is a suitable mode for the woman with broad, square shoulders, who, so long the accepted mold of form, finds herself suddenly bereft of her prestige and under the necessity of stimulating the slender type. Many puffed sleeves are caught up with embroidered straps extending from the shoulder to the bottom of the puff, and usually a berth or epaulet falls over the top. It is not unsafe to predict a gradual return of the shawl to fashionable favor unless present tendencies are abruptly and unexpectedly checked. The new jacket sleeves are full at the top, it is true, but the fullness is laid in a double or triple box plait on the top of the shoulder, which keeps it flat there while allowing a bouffant spread below that point.

Capes are usually cut in circular form, which causes them to lie flat over the shoulders, although they fall in ample folds over the back and arms. Very often a breadth of extra fullness is inserted behind, notably in a thin black cloth cape, which had a gathered panel of moire let into the back. These capes are scarcely as attractive as those made entirely of moire, however. The latter are often cheapened in appearance by a trimming of white lace, but when black is used the effect is very good. Moire is not serviceable for general wear, of course, and therefore a number of cloth capes are shown, mainly in black. A sketch is given of one which was made to match a severe walking costume. It is composed of three graduated circular capes, very flaring and plainly finished with stitching. The garment has a high, close collar.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The earliest fanning mill or winnowing machine was invented in China, and in use there for centuries, while Europeans were cleansing their grain by casting it into the air on a windy day.

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes: "Gentlemen:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

Press Claims Company, JOHN WEDDERBURN, Managing Attorney, Washington, D. C. P. O. Box, 385.

WORK FOR COXEY'S ARMY.

People who defend the Coxeys movement do so without knowledge of the facts. No man need go unemployed in this country today. There is plenty of work waiting for every pair of hands that can be spared to do it. The glut of laborers in the city is matched by a greater corresponding famine of labor in the country. For every woman who is starving in her attic or going to her death in the sweater's den, there is a home and good employment in domestic service. If no one objected to going into the country, the intelligence office would be out of material in a week; for there is scarcely a state in the Union where delicate women are not doing their own household work in the country and the smaller towns because help cannot be had at any price. The same is true of farm labor. Setting aside the skilled mechanics who are temporarily out of employment because the factories in which they work are closed, and who expect to go back to their places as soon as these resume, we have no doubt that there are places for all the unemployed men of the city on the farm. It is because they have crowded into the cities, where competition for work is fiercest, that they have fallen into such distress. Yet they insist upon staying there, while the depleted country begs for more hands to carry on the necessary farm work. This is the problem of unequal distribution.

STOP ALL THIS FOOLISHNESS.

While there are possibilities of embarrassment and trouble more or less serious in this Coxeys lunacy, the government, federal, state or municipal, is not in the slightest peril. State and municipal officials however, in the localities afflicted have for the most part been criminally lax in the performance of their duty in this exigency, and these shortcomings are a disgrace to the communities directly concerned, and reflect more or less discredit to the country. The law everywhere arms those officials with the power to deal with uprisings like this, summarily and efficaciously. If the governors and mayors of the region traversed by the Coxeys had met the requirements of their offices promptly and intelligently the gangs of tramps, deadbeats and fanatics which are dignified by the name of "armies" would have been dispersed at the outset, and the episode would have attracted no attention outside the country, and the sooner it is done the better. If the authorities of the states and cities afflicted enforce the law promptly and vigorously now Coxeysism will be nothing but a reminiscence ten or twelve days hence.

PLENTY OF LAW ON HAND.

At last the authorities in Illinois are going after the trusts. They are beginning to realize that the only thing necessary to the extinction of the trust principle, as far as it is harmful to society and business, is a vigorous legal warfare against it. The trouble is that the people affected have always worked the wrong way. They have talked about trusts and denounced trusts and elected legislators on the issue of trusts and passed laws against trusts, while all the time the trusts were running along merrily and fearing nothing but a prosecution under laws already existing. It is this inactivity of the men whose business it is to act for the people that has been at fault. Set the courts at work, and there will not be enough left of the trusts presently to offend or intimidate the meanest citizen.

Senator Berry, of Arkansas, presents as one of the reasons why he should be re-elected the fact that three-fourths of the men for whom he has obtained federal appointments are ex-confederate soldiers.

The talk about a compromise on the tariff which is heard from the friends of the Wilson bill shows that the democrats are more scared about that bolt in their party on the measure than the republicans imagined.

It will be hard to get a compromise tariff bill that will suit the east and south and southwest. A measure that would get the votes of Hill and Mills, say, would be something of a curiosity.

The Era of Muscle.

This is an athletic age. Everybody wants to be strong. The craze—for it has well nigh reached that stage—affects both sexes and even childhood. The pugilistic phase of this fad in young America is by no means morally promising. But it is something to be endowed with vigor and another to be endowed with muscle. Super muscularity is often induced by physical exertion to health and calculated to shorten life. The vigor which means a regular and efficient discharge of the physical functions, is the first medium at which all may safely aim without causing ruptures or breaking blood vessels.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is largely conducive to a gain in vigor of this sort since it stimulates and assists digestion, promotes regular bilious secretion and keeps the bowels in order. Sleep, that grand recuperator of nervous vigor, is encouraged by it and it remedies malarial, rheumatic and kidney trouble.

Half of a Bible.

Among the treasured relics of an ex-Confederate now living in a border state is half of a red morocco bible. When he and a companion in arms were hungry and very solemn on the retreat after the fall of Petersburg, they shared equally a small quantity of parched corn, their only food, and tore the bible in twain, so that each might have a part.

And She Lives.

Mrs. Elliott, of Delaware county, New York, started down a flight of stairs with a lighted lamp in each hand and the pancake turner she had been using held in her mouth. She fell, the handle of the implement was driven through her neck and the blade had to be cut off before the rest of it could be pulled out. And she is recovering.

Money in Vases and Jars.

BURGLARS IN JAIL AFTER A LONG HUNT

JANESVILLE AND BELOIT POLICE ON A LENGTHY CHASE.

Looters of Robinson's Saloon at the Line City Captured After They Had Searched the Officers Between the Two Towns—Held For Trial in the Municipal Court.

McKevitt and Tobin led Marshal Appleby, of Beloit, a merry chase after the looting of Robinson's saloon the other night.

"Local men did the job" mused the Beloit policeman as he surveyed the wreck, and mused he rightly. "They will get drunk on their plunder and I'll find them asleep somewhere," his thoughts ran on, but here mused he wrongly. While the marshal was poking into unused cellars and beating "the willows" with a long pole, McKevitt and Tobin were in Janesville seeing the old soldiers march for this was on Friday. There came from the Line City on that same day one short athletic-looking man, yept John Kline. With him walked stalwart Steve O'Donnell, the Australian pugilist, but that's another story. Kline recognized McKevitt and Tobin and when he got home he told Marshal Appleby.

Sought For Them Here

Wroth was Appleby, for his tramp about the Line City had been fraught with fatigue. Sought he the telegraph office on that sunshiny Saturday afternoon and at 5 o'clock Janesville police were notified to lay hands upon Tobin and McKevitt and lock them up. But they couldn't do it. On the first train from Beloit there came a short business-like looking man with a blue cape mackintosh on. This was Marshal Appleby. He and Chief Acheson formed a procession that marched from saloon to saloon and kept their eagle eyes open until 1 o'clock Sunday morning. No McKevitt. No Tobin. Then Marshal Appleby hid himself back to Beloit and ran almost against the very men he was looking for. Grabbing one in each hand he marched them to the lockup. Both had come to Janesville on the morning train and both had returned to Beloit on the afternoon passenger. On the same train on both coming and returning trips rode one John Kline and one stalwart Steve O'Donnell, but neither knew of the other's whereabouts. Such are the causes of that oppressed feeling that gnaws at the hearts of William McKevitt and Michael Tobin as they meditate in Room 8, Hotel Bear.

ROBERTS CASE AT AN END.

Jury Take the Case in Hand at 2:30.—Collins vs. Fulton.

The case of Roberts against the village of Evansville was given to the jury at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The lawyers concluded their arguments at noon, and after the noon recess the judge delivered his charge and the jury retired to deliberate on the verdict.

The next case on the day calendar is that of Collins against the town of Fulton, being another personal damage action. The plaintiff, Collins, claimed that he received personal injuries by falling through a bridge in that town, and that through the neglect of the town authorities, the bridge was in a dangerous condition for public travel, which condition was unknown to him at the time.

MARCH 'NEATH A BLACK FLAG.

Desperate Body of Men Organized in This City.

Reliable information shows that a desperate body of men are now organizing in this city. That they will emerge from their hiding places to-morrow night and take the town by storm, is said to be possible. Even the gentler sex are identified in the conspiracy. One member of the band has pressed his sister into service to provide the black flag under which they will march. It was through her that the secret was revealed. People of the city should be ready to subdue the uprising, and as a precaution are urged to rally at Myers Opera house to-morrow evening ready to give a warm reception to these pirates (of Penzance.)

Hard Times Stare

Workingmen, farmers and merchants in the face. Rosenfeld is no exception. Our stock is loaded down with men's, boys' and children's clothing, with no cash in the house or in the bank. Men and boys need clothing, and when they can not afford to pay the prices they used to pay on account of lack of funds, remember you can come to our store and buy that well made, good fitting, honorable clothing we charged you last year $18 and $20, for $10. Look at the window display. Remember our prices on all reputable and well made clothing; less than any competitors, and we will at all times meet any competitors' prices, as we are able to stand.

ROSENFELD,

The originator of low prices and honorable goods.

Free Trade

That was the verdict of the people, by their ballots for President Cleveland in ninety-two. Free trade opens the markets of the world to competition. The markets of Janesville have been flooded with free trade boots and shoes. Since last July I have bought over twenty thousand dollars worth of free trade shoes at less than seventy-five cents on the dollar of old prices. I am determined to give my customers the benefit of those purchases. Good leather and good shoes are cheaper than ever at Minor's, on the bridge.

ALL those who have heretofore made Y. M. C. A. subscriptions, both men and women will greatly oblige the committee by depositing the amount subscribed at the Merchants & Mechanics bank at the earliest moment, as it is greatly needed now.

REVOLVER IN HAND SHE KEPT VIGIL.

MRS. GEORGE HANTHORN AND A BURGLAR.

Dark Lantern's Rays Thrown Into Her Bed Room Aroused Her and She Sat Up in Bed Pistol in Hand, Waiting For a Chance to Shoot—House Not Entered.

With a self-cocking revolver in her hand Mrs. George Hanthorn sat up in her bed and watched the rays of a dark lantern move about her bed chamber Sunday morning, waiting patiently to catch a glance at the holder.

"I first noticed the light reflected on the bed chamber door," she said. "It remained on the door some little time, and I realized that something unusual was going on. The light finally disappeared, and then I heard the clock strike 2. I knew it was not the street cars, so I waited and watched. A moment after the light appeared at the bed-room window and I could see the disk of the lantern. The reflection did not strike me, but I think the man holding it must have seen that I was ready to receive him, as he disappeared."

Mrs. Hanthorn did not call her husband. He was sick, and she being armed with a safe weapon and possessing nerve to use it, thought she could defend her home alone against a night prowler.

The second ward lamplighter met three suspicious looking men on Milton avenue Sunday morning while turning out lights, and reported the fact to the police.

The First Idealist.

BY GRANT ALLEN.

A jelly-fish swam in a tropical sea, And he said, "This world consists of Me; There's nothing above and nothing below That a jelly-fish ever can possibly know (Since we've got no sight, or hearing, or smell.)

Beyond what our single sense can tell. Now all that I learn from the sense of touch Is the fact of my feelings, viewed as such, But to think they have any external cause Is an inference clean against logical laws. Again, to suppose, as I've hitherto done, There are other jelly-fish under the sun, Is a pure assumption that can't be backed By a jot of proof or a single fact.

In short, like Hume, I very much doubt If there's anything else at all without So I come at last to the plain conclusion When the subject is fairly set free from confusion, That the universe simply centers in Me, And if I were not, then nothing would be."

Pittsburg Is a Swell City.

Pittsburg, which used to be a little town squeezed down into the narrow triangle of the junction of the Alleghany and Monongahela, has grown into a city of unusually large area in proportion to its population. The city engineers were cutting streets through dense woodlands more than twenty years ago, and farms, miles from the city hall, were held at speculative prices. The city line is now more than six miles from the Ohio eastward, and its length between the Alleghany and Monongahela is between four and five miles.

SHUNK TO GIVE UP THE OPERA HOUSE.

MYERS WILL MANAGE IT NEXT SEASON.

The Chicago Theatrical Man Not Satisfied With the Way His Efforts Were Received During the Winter—Weak Attractions Furnish a Partial Explanation.

The Myers estate will manage the opera house next season.

Manager J. H. Shunk has had enough.

He hasn't paid expenses this year, he declares and doesn't want any more of the Bower City.

Many people think the failure of the present season has been caused by running in too many cheap shows. However that may be, Mr. Shunk has served notice on J. H. Myers that he will not renew his lease and August 15 will see him step out.

"I suppose we will manage the house ourselves next season," said Mr. Myers to a Gazette reporter. "I am satisfied we can run it to better advantage than outsiders can."

BIG SLEEVES.

How the Latest Eccentricity of Fashion Originated.

Rousseau says: "Ugly women almost always introduce the fashions and pretty women are foolish enough to follow them." It is probably true that no fashion is introduced without some reason, and this reason is generally either the display of beauty or the concealment of a defect—oftener the latter. For instance when the immense sleeves—then called gigot sleeves—came into fashion more than fifty years ago, they were evolved out of the shrewd consciousness of French women that they would serve to diminish the apparent size of their large waists.

A French fashion writer of that period says: "When the sleeves called gigot first made their appearance everyone exclaimed against the bazarre of a fashion which not only concealed the shape of the arm, but made it appear larger than the waist, and the ladies who first wore these sleeves lined with buckram for the purpose of puffing them out, appeared as if each shoulder was inclosed in a balloon. Still this singular style of sleeve became very general and no longer appeared ridiculous. From custom its elegance was admitted even by those who first ridiculed it. We yielded to the authority of the greater number, and it would have been ridiculous not to follow a fashion almost universal."

"There is an economic side to the big sleeves of to-day, after all," said a spirited young mother the other day, "and they make over beautifully into frocks for the children."

THERE WAS NO FIGHT.

The Chivalrous Frenchman Wiped Out the Insult With Ink.

Teetotalers will be interested to learn that the late General Mellinet, the doyen of the French army, who has lately died at the age of 95 years, has throughout his life abstained from stimulants of all kinds, and was in the habit of saying that he did not even know the taste of wine. To the last he was a healthy, vigorous and rather peppery old soldier. Only two years ago an article by M. Lissagaray, in the Bataille, on the behavior of the generals of the empire during the war of 1870, was taken by General Mellinet to have some reference to himself. He therefore wrote to the offender as follows:

"After your indescribable insults and lies with regard to an old man like myself I beg to ask satisfaction of you. However, as for some years past I have been unable to travel, I rely upon your courtesy to bring swords and pistols to my house here at Nantes, where, between the four walls of my garden, we can quietly settle our dispute secure from interruption."

M. Lissagaray, instead of accepting the challenge, wrote a highly complimentary article about his challenger, who thereupon curbed his bloodthirsty propensity and expressed himself as being "profoundly touched and honored."

The Prince's Heart.

An exhibition of the relics and souvenirs of Queen Marie Antoinette was recently opened in the Sadelmeyer gallery, Rue de la Rochefoucauld. Among the curiosities was a rather grewsome object—a model of the heart of the ill-fated young prince "whom the Royalists persist in calling Louis the Seventeenth, although he never reigned." The real heart is in the possession of a devoted monarchist, if M. Cottin, librarian at the Arsenal is to be credited. It was preserved by Dr. Philippe Jean Pelletan, who made—in accordance with an order of the convention—a post-mortem examination of the prince's body. By him it was given to Mgr. de Quelen, archbishop of Paris, from which it came at length to its present possessor.

A Conscience-Stricken Listener.

In a note to his edition of Tennyson for the young, Canon Ainger quotes an incident which proves that the late laureate's poems in dialect may, when read aloud, be made not only intelligible to uncultured audiences, but may even read a moral lesson "to guilty creatures sitting at a play." A lady who had recited the "Northern Cobbler" at a village entertainment informed the author that at the point where the reformed cobbler was describing how he first became aware of the disastrous results of his intemperate habits, in the line, "I looked cock-eyed at my noase an' I seed 'im a-gittin' o' fire," the village drunkard, who was among the audience, rose from his seat and left the room, muttering to himself, "Women knows too much nowadaays!"

Abolishing the Knout.

The use of the knout by the Russian police as punishment for various offenses is on the eve of abolition. This step, it is stated, is due to the direct intervention of the czar, who, having by some means at length become aware of the excessive and, in many cases, unnecessary use of this instrument of punishment, ordered the governors of the various provinces to especially report on this subject. Women, girls and even children have not been exempt from this barbarous mode of punishment, which in many cases has resulted in the victim being maimed for life.

Extreme Age of Trees.

The extreme age of the various species of trees is set down as follows: Elm, 335; pine, 450; chestnut, 600; olive, 700; the cedar, 800; the oak, 1,500; the yew, 2,800. Humboldt computed the age of the famous baobab tree, a specimen of banyan, to be at least 5,700. Late authorities give the age of "big trees" in California at 1,000 to 3,000 years.

GENTLE JOCULARITY.

"He married such a cold girl." "Poor fellow! And he is so completely wrapped up in her."

"Meekison—Why did the policeman club Vokes? Bangs—For getting in his way when he was getting away from a fight."

He—I'm afraid you don't like to have me dropping in on you for these little chats? She, earnestly—Indeed, I'm sure your short calls are perfectly delightful.

He—I'm sure Cupid had nothing to do with arranging our alphabet. She—What gives you that impression? He—If he had been doing it he would have placed U and I much nearer each other.

Tutter—Awfully pretty baby, Bender, but—er—what is it, girl or boy? Bender—Can't you tell it's a girl? "No. How on earth can you tell?" "Can't you see? She's reaching up to put her mother's hat on straight."

"My man," said the woman who was leaning across the fence, "is one of these here pessimists." "And what's that?" asked the other woman. "Why, one of these here fellows that is always sure bad luck is a-coming to him, and is mighty surprised when it comes."

Sunday School Teacher—Children, do you know the house that is open to all—to the poor, the rich, the sad, the happy; to man and to woman; to the old and the young? Do you know the house I mean? Little Johnny—Yeth, ma'am, I know. Sunday School Teacher—Well, Johnny, what house is it? Little Johnny—The station house.

An old darky arose recently in one of the Southern prayer meetings and exclaimed: "Brethren and sistern, I've been having a drefful time since last we met together. I've been chawing hard bones and swallowing bitter pills. I'm afraid I've broken every one of the Ten Commandments, but, thank the Lord, I haven't lost my religion!"

LAWS AND CUSTOMS.

Flogging still flourishes in the native regiments of the Anglo-Indian army, and the entire regiment is paraded to witness the infliction of the punishment.

Novel means were taken by the wife of an excise commissioner in Jamaica, N. Y., to collect a debt against a saloonkeeper. She obtained possession of his license and held it until paid.

There is a tradition in Forest county, Pa., that a baby which wears a black snake's skin for a garter will be free from croup. There is another tradition that if a white baby be kissed by a negro woman it will never get the whooping cough.

Among the Sioux Indians a common custom exists. When one family borrows a kettle from another it is expected when the kettle is returned a small portion of the food that has been cooked in it will be left in the bottom. Should this custom be disregarded by any one that person would never be able to borrow again, as the owner must always know what has been cooked in her kettle.

LIVING TOGETHER IN AMITY.

Out in Sierra Ancha Mountains Man and Bear Mutually Tolerant.

Up in the Sierra Ancha mountains of Gila county there are plenty of bears, great big bears, as big as 4-year-old steers, and with claws on their feet that leave a mark like a butcher's cleaver in the snow. There are not many people in the Sierra Anchas, though some years, in the month of May a few people go up among the pines and plant potatoes. And the potatoes they harvest before the snow comes in the fall are the finest in the world. Well, these potato farmers have an inexhaustible fund of bear stories. Of course, there is plenty of other game—the residents principally live on wild turkey and deer meat, and esteem beef and bacon in the light of delicacies. But as to bears. The potato farmer will prop himself against a tree in the woods at night, gaze into a huge fire of pine pitch deadwood and between puffs of his comforting pipe will tell a story something like this: "Yo see, I was a goin' over the saddle near mount Lookout, not notice like, and all of a sudden I heard ahead of me a sort of a sound like a horse was startled. An' right thar before my eyes was the biggest, woolliest bar I ever seed in my born days. Why, he was about as big as the cabin I built that year over near the head of Coon creek. Well, I was skeered clean out of my boots, and the bar appeared to wonder what I was doin' occupyin' that trail. Well, we surveyed each other for a few minutes, when I stepped off politely to one side into the timber, and the bar went off down the trail."

"Why," exclaimed a Phoenix Gazette man who heard this story, "didn't you have a gun?" "Why, of course; never stir out without my old Winchester 45." "Why didn't you shoot him, then?" "Good Lord, youngster, do I look like a blame fool? I hain't lost no bar. Bar's all right, only you just let him alone when you meet him on the trail and he'll return the compliment."

Nobody shoots bears in that country. Bear and human live together with mutual respect, if not amity, and neither side cares to break the truce.

Breeding Blue and Black Foxes.

For the purpose of perpetuating the fast vanishing fur supply of Alaska, certain enterprising persons have gone into the business of breeding blue and black foxes on uninhabited islands along that coast. When seals have been finally exterminated the world may still look to that region for some of the most valuable and beautiful pelts known. At wholesale prices the skin of the black fox is now worth from $50 to $75, that of a blue fox is valued at from $15 to $20. There is money in the business referred to, inasmuch as the animals multiply with astonishing rapidity. Under such conditions they have no enemies to contend against, and so their increase is unchecked. The breeding of blue foxes has already been very successful on one of the Pribyloff islands, in Behring sea. Of their increase 10,000 have been killed and skinned for market.

Desirous of Avoiding Error.

Under ordinary conditions he was a man of prominence—but as he ascended the steps of his residence, very early in the morning, it was evident that he desired to be as much otherwise as possible. The caddy was lingering near to see that his charge was safely disposed of for the night. The door opened before the man on the steps could get his key to work, and he was met with the question:

"John, where have you been?"

"John, where have you been?" He turned to descend the steps.

"Are you going to answer my question?"

"Yes, my dear, I am. From my personal knowledge I can't give the desired information, 'n' I'm goin' to ask the man that drives the hack." —Life.

REMINDERS OF THE PAST.

The inventor of the envelope was the late Elias Gunmaer of Shawano, Wis. He hit upon the idea while a government employe in Washington.

The great clock of Rouen, France, has been grinding out time and striking the hours and quarters for over 500 years, running all this time without interruption.

A globe of water fell near London in 1616, striking a gentleman sitting on his veranda and completely drenching him. It is known in history as "the water meteor."

Charles Miner originated the phrase "An' ax to grind." Will Somers, the celebrated jester of Henry VIII., is quoted as being responsible for the phrase, "A bird in hand is worth two in the bush."

An important discovery has been made at Castel-Trosino of a post-Roman necropolis of at least 150 tombs, whose contents far surpass in abundance and richness any similar finds hitherto made on Italian soil. Gold and silver inscribed crosses, brooches, clasps, necklaces of Byzantine coins, dagger-sheaths, arms and fine articles in glass are included.

The word "manor" is of frequent occurrence throughout rural Pennsylvania, and it frequently marks some one of the sixty odd manors conferred upon the heirs of William Penn by an act of 1779. These manors, ranging from 200 to many thousand acres, were scattered thickly over the eastern part of the state, and their names have since become the names of many townships.

Another valuable discovery has rewarded excavators in Egypt. They opened a pyramid of bricks at Dashour, which contained the tomb of a relative of a king of the twelfth dynasty. One of the finest collections of Egyptian jewelry was within, and included brooches, bracelets, plaques, charms and caskets, all of solid gold ornamented with emeralds, amethysts, coral, turquois and scarabees.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130 lbs. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have taken, or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

on the Coxe movement to get into the arena of debate. It is contended that the subject can by no possibility of construction be considered privileged, and any request for unanimous consent for consideration will be promptly objected to. The only way in which the subject can be discussed in the house is under cover of debate on one of the pending appropriation bills, and such discussion can only eventuate in talk.

Undoubtedly the people most relieved upon looking at the army were the policemen and detectives, the former including a number of special officers sworn in for this occasion. "It would not take long to rout such a combination," remarked a central office detective, "even if they should show a determination to act ugly. They have been very carefully canvassed, and out of the 300 claimed to be in camp not one is made of fighting material."

MASSILLON, Ohio, April 30.—After all, Carrie Coxe, the 17-year-old daughter of the general, will lead the army into Washington as the "angel of peace." She lives with her mother, the general's divorced wife, and would have left Massillon with the army had her mother not objected. Yesterday Jessie Coxe arrived in the city, and after remaining four hours left for Pittsburg, taking with him his sister. So Carrie, mounted on a white horse, will lead the army into Washington.

Meeting at Keokuk.

KEOKUK, Iowa, April 30.—A meeting presided over by local populist leaders was held at the park yesterday afternoon, the purpose being to organize a contingent of Kelly's army. Several hundred people attended and fiery speeches were made. Resolutions were adopted encouraging Coxe and endorsing the scheme. One speaker said the Kelly army probably would come down from Des Moines over the Rock Island road to Keokuk Monday, they being afraid to go through Chicago, and that they would be warmly welcomed here.

Will Ship the Army on East.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 30.—Ten thousand people visited the headquarters of the Galvin army on the west side yesterday and the entire time was put in making speeches and taking up collections. Nearly $200 was raised to get the army out of the city and it is announced that enough will be secured to start the crowd toward Pittsburg by the noon freight to-day. At night the army stopped under a big tent, the quarters at Union Labor Hall being too small to accommodate them. An immense open air meeting was held along the railway track.

At Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 30.—Discipline was well maintained in Gen.

Frye's camp yesterday and thousands paid 10 cents to visit the industrial army. In the afternoon Gen. Frye preached at Tomlinson hall. It is not known when the army will break camp. Gen. Frye is negotiating with the Big Four for transportation to Washington.

Disturbing Rumor Circulated.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 30.—A secret meeting of the Des Moines lodge of the American Railway union was held last night. None of the members would talk, but there is a rumor in circulation that a demand will be made on the Rock Island to carry the army to Chicago, and if the demand is not acceded to a tie-up will follow.

HONESTY

IN THE CLOTHING BUSINESS IS NOT RARE
WHEN YOU COME TO A FIRST-CLASS HOUSE.

We do not sell cheap clothing, in fact we don't want it. We cannot compete in price with the "ready made" dealer who advertises $20 suits for such ridiculously low prices, because it is almost an impossibility to give the buyer any value for his money.

The Clothing Sold by

ZIEGLER

= Is the Best =

Because every garment is made by a first-class merchant tailor, a man who knows how to build good clothing and the buyer who pursues the policy of buying "ready-made" clothing because it is cheap pays more in the end than he who buys the best. The kind of clothing we sell you is the kind that has all the merits of style, finish and quality.

We sell the best made for less than you can buy the poorest at any other clothing house in Janesville. You no doubt wondered how we can do this. We will tell you. We are directly connected with the large concern of Browning, King & Co., the largest clothiers in the world. They have stores in all the large cities of the United States. They buy direct from the cloth and last year manufactured and sold $9,000,000 worth of clothing. Each house selects their own designs and patterns, and gets advantage of Browning, King & Co.'s low prices. Don't you think kind reader that a concern that handles $9,000,000 worth of clothing in a year can get better prices than one that handles $25,000 or $30,000? We pay the same prices as Browning, King & Co. We guarantee you that we buy our clothing from 15 to 25 per cent less than any clothier in Janesville. We sell you the best for the least money.
